

Volunteer Opportunities at

Mr Hardman's Photographic Studio 59 Rodney Street

Tour Guides

59 Rodney Street was the home and studio of photographer Edward Chambré Hardman for 40 years. Saved for the nation in 2002 the house has been reinstated to how it was in the mid 1950s and is now open to the public between March-Oct. Become a part of the team at this award winning property - meet new people, learn new skills and help bring the story of Chambré Hardman to a new audience. No experience necessary as full training is provided

Availability: Wed-Sun, 10.30am-5pm

Contact: Sarah-Jane Langley (Custodian) – (0151) 709 6107

Conservation Assistants

Love history? Ever wondered what goes on behind the scenes in an historic house? Start your career in heritage by helping to conserve and care for the unique collection of post war ephemera at 59 Rodney Street, the home and studio of local photographer Edward Chambré Hardman and his wife Margaret.

Availability: Daily, Mornings (9-12)

Contact: Sarah-Jane Langley (Custodian) – (0151) 709 6107

Archive Assistants

The Chambré Hardman photographic collection contains over 140,000 landscape and portrait photographs. Help to catalogue, repackage and store this unique window on Liverpool's past while learning more about the skills of an archivist.

Availability: Mon-Fri, 10am-4pm

Contact: Mike Ewen (Archivist) – (0151) 233 5849